

Dear Customers & Friends,

It is evident that the world has changed overnight in the fight against COVID-19, and the demand on clinicians is overwhelming. On behalf of Wallcur, WE THANK YOU and the many nurses, doctors, EMS professionals and allied healthcare providers that you have trained for your service, compassion and selfless acts to help treat this global pandemic.

As many of you know Wallcur was started over 45 years ago by a nurse educator that many would consider an innovator well before her time. She recognized the need for safe, effective tools to enhance the clinical education process in simulation and skill lab environments. Today Wallcur continues to pride itself on offering the highest quality training products and outstanding customer service, driven by a passion to help clinical educators and their teams provide superior educational experiences.

Wallcur is a small business, and the impact that COVID-19 is having on our business, our team and our customers is deeply felt. We want you to know that every order matters to us. Whether you are a current customer or potential new customer, we are grateful for you and for your trust.

Wallcur continues to closely monitor the ongoing coronavirus outbreak guidelines and recommendations by the CDC and the WHO. Currently, we have split our staff into multiple, rotating teams to continue to stay operational while maintaining all necessary safety precautions.

We are confident in our supply chain and do not anticipate any product shortages. Our team is here for you, to support your educational and training efforts, which we know are needed now more than ever.

Respectfully,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'Brett Lanuti', with a long horizontal line extending to the right.

Brett Lanuti
Managing Member